ACCESS STATEMENT & PLAN 2020

INTRODUCTION

Our Access Statement and Plan is based on a belief in equality and inclusiveness for all and confirms that everyone should have equal access to facilities and services regardless of disability, age, gender or race. With this in mind Ellen Wilkinson Primary School puts accessibility for all at the heart of the planning and design process.

As a school we are committed to providing a fully accessible environment which values and includes all pupils, staff, parents and visitors regardless of their educational, physical, sensory, social, spiritual, emotional and cultural needs. Further, we are committed to challenging negative attitudes about disability and accessibility, and to developing a culture of awareness, tolerance and inclusion.

The school recognises that many of our pupils, visitors and staff, with Special Educational Needs or Disabilities (SEND) or otherwise, have individual needs when using school facilities. We understand that for all pupils, the nature of their needs or disabilities may mean that they experience specific difficulties related to accessing education, and the physical environment. As part of our ongoing commitment to the delivery of an inclusive educational service, we work hard to ensure that all our pupils receive a high a standard of education and are supported in reaching their full potential. Good communication and co-operation between the school, home and other professionals are essential. The key aims of this Plan are to:

- Increase the extent to which pupils with SEND can participate in the curriculum.
- Improve the physical environment of the school to increase our SEND pupil's physical access to education and extracurricular activities.
- Improve the delivery of information to children and young people with SEND; using formats which give better access to information.
- Provide continued education as normally as the condition allows.
- Reduce the risk of lowering self-confidence and educational achievement.
- Promote equal access to education for all children and young people.
- Establish effective liaison.
- Ensure that prompt action takes place.

The Equality Act 2010 and Equality Duty 2011 placed responsibilities upon schools to remove discrimination against pupils with disability. It requires schools to make 'reasonable adjustments' to their policies, procedures and practices to accommodate pupils with disability more fully in school life. There is a duty on schools to state what action they have taken to improve access and to have an Accessibility Plan.

The reasonable adjustments duty is triggered only where there is a need to avoid 'substantial disadvantage'. Substantial is defined as being anything more than minor or trivial. Whether or not a pupil with SEND is at a substantial disadvantage or not will depend on the individual situation.

These duties apply to disabled pupils, as defined in the Equality Act 2010. The Act says that a pupil has a disability if they have a physical or mental impairment which has a long term and substantial adverse effect on their ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities. Physical or mental impairment includes sensory impairments such as those affecting sight or hearing.

The definition can include a wide range of impairments, including hidden impairments such as dyslexia, autism, speech and language impairments, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), or people diagnosed with cancer, HIV infection or multiple sclerosis. Impairment does not of itself mean that a pupil is disabled. It is the effect on the person's ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities that has to be considered.

The test of whether impairment affects normal day-to-day activity is whether it affects one or more of the following:

- Mobility
- Manual dexterity
- Physical co-ordination
- Continence
- Ability to lift, carry or otherwise move everyday objects
- Speech, hearing or eyesight
- Memory or ability to concentrate, learn or understand
- Perception of risk of physical danger

A child's ability to memorise, concentrate, learn, speak, move, make and maintain positive relationships is central to their education. An impairment that has a long-term and substantial effect on a child's ability to do these things may amount to a disability.

Some disabled pupils also have special educational needs (SEN) and may be receiving support via school-based SEN provision or have a statement of SEN. Just because a disabled pupil has SEN or has a statement does not take away the duty to make reasonable adjustments for them. In practice, of course, many pupils with disabilities who also have a statement of SEN will receive all the support they need through the SEN framework and there will be nothing extra the school has to do. However, some pupils with disabilities will not have SEN, and some pupils with SEN and disabilities will still need reasonable adjustments to be made for them in addition to any support they receive through the SEN framework.

Health and Safety

The Equality Act 2010 does not override health and safety legislation. If making a particular adjustment would increase the risks to the health and safety of any person (including the pupil with disabilities in question) then this is a relevant factor in deciding whether it is reasonable to make that adjustment. However, as with the approach to any question of health and safety and risk assessment, schools are not required to eliminate all risk. Suitable and sufficient risk assessments should be used to help determine where risks are likely to arise and what action can be taken to minimise those risks. Risk assessments should be specific to the individual pupil and the activities in question. Proportionate risk management relevant to the disability should be an ongoing process throughout a disabled pupil's time at the school.

There might be instances when, although an adjustment could be made, it would not be reasonable to do so because it would endanger the health and safety either of the pupil with disabilities or of other people. There might be other instances where schools could make anticipatory reasonable adjustments in line with health and safety legislation, ensuring compliance with, and not infringing, that legislation.

Charging Arrangements for Making Reasonable Adjustments

It is unlawful for a setting or school to charge a child for making reasonable adjustments in any circumstances, whatever the financial cost to the school and however the setting or school is funded.

THE PURPOSE AND DIRECTION OF THE SCHOOL'S PLAN: VISION AND VALUES

Ellen Wilkinson Primary School is committed to ensuring equal opportunities for any pupil or employee with a disability, to removing barriers to progress and, to making reasonable adjustments to reduce disadvantage.

Our commitment to equal opportunities is driven by the National Curriculum Inclusion Statement. As a school we:

- Set suitable learning challenges
- Respond to pupils' diverse needs
- Overcome potential barriers to learning and assessment for individuals and groups of pupils.

The School's policies on Bullying and PHSE (Personal, Health, and Social Education) promote equality and respect for all regardless of gender, race, colour, creed or impairment.

This Accessibility Plan sets out the proposals of the Governing Body of the school to increase access to education for pupils in the three areas required under the Equality Act 2010. The three key duties are to:

- Increase the extent to which children with SEND and young people can engage in the school curriculum.
- Improve the physical environment of the school to increase SEND pupils' physical access to education and extra-curricular activities.
- Improve the delivery of information to children and young people with SEND, using formats which give better access to information.

The responsibility for the Accessibility Plan lies with the Governing Body and Head teacher.

It is a requirement that the school's Accessibility Plan is resourced, implemented, and reviewed and revised as necessary. Attached is a set of action plans showing how the school will address the priorities identified in the plan.

Implications for School Admissions

Since September 2002 it has been against the law to discriminate in school admissions, education and associated services and exclusions. Parents have means of redress through admissions and exclusions appeals and Special Educational Needs and Disability tribunals which now sit in the Health, Education and Social Care (HESC) Chamber of the First-Tier Tribunal.

Other considerations:-

- Ellen Wilkinson has had adaptations to improve access for those with physical disabilities. Staff work flexibly to organise classrooms to enable access for all pupils.
- When arranging visits, special attention is given to meet the needs of a child with SEND. These needs will be highlighted on the risk assessment for the visit.
- If a pupil is absent from school for extended periods, then liaison with parents and relevant personnel from the health authority will take place in order to maintain access to the curriculum as near as possible to that being covered in school.
- All staff receive appropriate guidance and support to meet the School's duties to pupils with SEND.
- The school will action any reasonable physical adjustments or provide auxiliary aids and services
- Consideration is given to ensure that sufficient and appropriate support is available to enable access for all.

MAIN PRIORITIES IN THE SCHOOL'S PLAN

INCREASING ACCESS TO THE CURRICULUM

- Visual prompts and resources including visual timetables are used to facilitate access for all.
- SEND awareness is promoted in the curriculum, through assemblies, sports competitions and specific events, for example The Paralympics.
- Staff working with pupils with SEND receive specialist training
- Thorough risk assessments are undertaken as required and take full account of the needs of children with SEND, for example a named adult will provide 1:1 support if appropriate.
- Pupils with SEND are able to access a range of activities and clubs beyond the school day; they participate in residential visits.

Future Developments

- On-going provision of specialist aids, equipment and ICT to promote pupils with SEND to access the curriculum.
- Wider use of prepared visual aids and prompts including visual timetables.
- Consider OT (Occupation Therapist) assessment of classrooms and optimal seating positions when appropriate.

IMPROVING THE PHYSICAL ENVIRONMENT

- The school is fully accessible for wheelchairs and frames. Corridors and routes are kept clear of obstacles.
- The school meets legislation in respect of physical access for learners with SEND for a 2 form entry setting.
- Our sensory room provides a place where children can have rest breaks, reflect and regulate.
- Lunchtime seating arrangements are considered for pupils with a disability.

IMPROVING THE DELIVERY OF INFORMATION TO PUPILS AND OTHER MEMBERS OF OUR COMMUNITY WITH SEND WHO REQUIRE SUPPORT ACCESSING WRITTEN INFORMATION

In today's modern society the provision of information is now accessed and available in a variety of printed, spoken and electronic forms. We believe in effective communication to promote accessibility:

Large Print We have the facility to enlarge school documents as necessary. The Visual Impairment Service can give advice and support about producing accessible versions of documentation.

Easy Read This format was originally developed for people with learning disabilities, but now has a wider user group. It uses large print with illustrations and can be supported by audio. The language is reduced in complexity and jargon.

Braille and Other Alternative Formats Ellen Wilkinson will work in partnership with specialists and other agencies to provide access for children with specific difficulties or disabilities to a range of human, paper and electronic sources of information.

Interpreters Use of specialist services including the Interpretation Service as appropriate, to meet the specific needs of pupils with SEND.
