Wellbeing

- Draw a picture of yourself. Then think about how your family, friends and teacher would describe you. Write those positive qualities around your picture, including the qualities you find hard to see in yourself e.g. my teacher thinks I'm resilient, etc. Share ideas as a class and keep the picture safe to remind you of all the positive things people associate you with, especially when you're feeling down.
- Fold up an A4 paper in thirds to make 6 boxes. In each box, draw a perfect part of your day. What do you do in the morning? Early start, lie in, breakfast in bed? What happens after? How do you end your day? Discuss the children's perfect day as a class.
