Reporting Indecent Images

Children and the Internet Watch Foundation (IWF) have launched a new tool which allows children and young people, or trusted adults on their behalf, to report a nude image or video of themselves so that the IWF can take steps to remove it from the internet.

You can report an image/video that hasn't been uploaded or shared. The IWF will assign a 'hash' to prevent the image being uploaded by anyone.

Image hashing is the creation of a unique digital description/copy of an image that can be used by the image being uploaded or shared, and prevent that action from asking place.
